South Florida Free Beaches welcomes coverage of Haulover Park's naturist (clothing-optional) beach in South Florida by print and online media.

Since 1991, this beach has been a mecca for nudists, naturists, skinny-dippers, and those just adverse to tan lines – from Florida, from throughout the USA, and from around the world. It's enhanced tourist revenue to South Florida considerably, while getting rave reviews from local government and community leaders.

Please review the information in our online PRESS ROOM. You'll find press releases, presentations, videos, and comments from government and community leaders on this nineteen-year-old success story. There, you will also find a link to our HIGH RES PHOTO PAGE offering images to accompany articles.

We would be pleased to prepare an article for your publication, or assist you with information.
